ROOM FOR ART

Why do we teach art in school? Many believe that art is the only subject where children are able to express their "creativity" or "release their feelings". Others believe that art helps student learn better. Still others think that the primary benefit of art is to provide children with something "fun".

The arts involve so many different areas. Art can be creating pottery, singing, playing an instrument, painting a picture, ballet dancing, poetry reading or acting and drama. Art is much more than just drawing a picture with crayons.

There are many different ways to incorporate the arts in the schools. Some schools can allow professional artists to come on and share their talents and skill with the students. When finished learning about a specific art, students can share what they have learnt in a performance or an exhibit.

Hi Claire,

Guess what? I'm attending the International Street Dance in my town! It is a day event that started yesterday. The atmosphere is so exciting and people are dancing everywhere.

There are groups of dancers from many countries in the world. They dance in different areas. For example, the Latin group perform in the North Street, and the Indian Classical group are in the East Street. All performances start with the dancers performing on a round stage. The audience can watch them or dance at the same time. At the end of each demonstration, the dancers teach us some of the steps. Yesterday, I learnt some steps from the Irish dance. I had to move my legs very quickly while keeping my body and arms fixed. It took a lot of my energy and I felt extremely tired after that, but it's really good fun! I wish you were here with me.

I'm going now because the next dance group is starting!

See you soon,

Love,

Mary
